Subject: JUVENILES? SEND THEM FAR AWAY

Good afternoon,

I am a mom that moved from a big city to the little town of Omak thinking well its got to be a good place to raise the kids. Well.....They all didn't turn out so good. I had one that every time he ended up in the jail it was basically not scary at all because he got to go with all of the other delinquent little punks he got in trouble with. It didn't work. Even the prison system is club med for these guys. And I've heard him say so.

I think Juvenile would have worked a lot better if we had captured these little brats and sent them off where they actually did get scared straight being in a larger facility and most likely not in there with anyone they know and half of the enabling drug sharing parents that are there while your at work to give goodies to my problem child and so they don't even feel like their missing much.

Its all a bunch of bull crap to keep these punks here and we all know it. The only bleeding hearts I see are the ones who know damn well their punk ass kids are going to end up there. So What! Let them go! sometimes kids just aren't right and I hate to say it but this new generation isn't getting any better at all. They are all getting worse and the drugs are getting harder.

If you keep this facility here you WILL have more drug deaths for the county to be bled by the family that contributed to it all. IF you keep the facility here they will release the next Sandy hook punk right here in our community because they kept him close to his momma.

I say Eff that!!! send them away and if their enabling parent wants to be a part of their failure their child is becoming they can move the hell out too!

They have to learn a lesson on their own and that's the cold hard truth. No matter what a parent does these kids are individuals and they have to learn it on their own.

Hope this came in time and please include my letter.

I support closing it. Thank you
